After hearing an appealing address from Mrs. May Pauline Sparks, of New Jersey, last night, 286 delegates in attendance at the Virginia convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Broad Street Methodist Church joined hands while they sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," thus marking the formal close of the most successful session ever held. The next convention will meet in Laray.

of the most successful session ever held. The next convention will meet in Luray.

The report of the resolutions committee, presented by Mrx. Helen H. Green, of Farmville, was adopted without alteration. Besides expressing appreciation of Richmond's hospitality, it contained the usual planks on abstinence and prohibition. It declared in favor of universal peace, and strongly denounced the double standard of morals, the regulation of vice, and the white slave traffic. Richmond's juvenille court was commended as an example to the remaining cities of the State.

Yesterday morning the delegates heard an address on scientific temperance by Dr. A. W. Freeman, Assistant Commissioner of the State Department of Health, and in the afternoon rushed through to completion all business before them. A delegation, led by Mrs. W. M. Bickers, of this city, was selected to attend the National World Convention in Brooklyn.

Banners were awarded last night for gains in membership in the different branches of the union's work. Chesterfield County, Parmville, Lynchburg and Disputanta carried off the honors in the contests, Disputanta receiving two banners, one of which was for securing the greatest number of honorary members from among the
